On Sunday October 30 at 3:00 p.m. The Cleveland Museum of Art will show EROICA, an Austrian film presenting the life of Beethoven. Three principal aspects of his nature are emphasized: his passionate love of democracy and hatred of tyranny; his intense and idealistic craving for love; and the deafness which isolated him completely from sound. The Vienna Orchestra will play extensive portions of the "Eroica" and Ninth Symphonies; shorter passages from the Sixth and Seventh Symphonies; the "Moonlight Sonata;" the overtures, "Leonore No. 3," "Coriolanus" and "Egmont;" the Prisoners' Chorus from "Fidelio" and the "Hymn to God and Nature."
